Objectives

Through projects, lectures, discussions, and demonstrations, the students will get an understanding of the conceptual, technical, and aesthetic issues of digital video planning, production, and postproduction.

Resources

Required Materials

Students should have access to an SD card (8GB class 10, should be enough) if planning on using the school cameras.

Students should have an external hard drive (at least 256GB) to store their projects on. Students are also encouraged to keep an additional back up of all their files in the event of a corrupted/lost/stolen drive. Bad things happen, especially as deadlines approach. Files and work get lost, even with the best of project management. In the event of technical difficulties, you will be happy to have a backup of your coursework stored elsewhere.

Computer Labs

You may use the computers in Smith 123 or any classroom that is not being used. There will also be lab assistants in the lab. Not all assistants will be qualified to assist with this course.

Cameras

There are DSLR and AVCHD video cameras available for you to check out and use for this course. Other video equipment such as drones, action cams, etc may also be made available through the semester.

Students will be encourage to explore other methods for capturing video and delivering content through different means such as phones and tablets.

Social Media

Students will be required to create accounts (if they don’t already have them) for this course. Accounts include Facebook, Instagram, and Vimeo and/or YouTube.

Assignments and exams

Assignments

Assignments will be due on the dates announced in class or online in the canvas course. Any work turned in after the due date will be considered late and will have 10% deducted each day they are late.

Quizzes

Quizzes will be given at the discretion of the instructor. They may be delivered online or in class.

Exams

This course has one midterm exam and a final project.

Grading

Assignments, quizzes, exams, and class participation all contribute to your point total.

Assignments are 40% of your grade, quizzes are 15%, exams are 30%, and class participation is 15%.

Letter grades are assigned based on the percentage of possible points attained, according to the following chart:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Minimum Percentage</th>

Collaboration

Collaboration with other students in the course is permitted. Students may seek help learning concepts and developing programming skills from whatever sources they have available, and are encouraged to do so. Each student is responsible for submitting their own work. See the section on cheating.

Cheating

Cheating will not be tolerated, and will result in a failing grade for the students involved as well as possible disciplinary action from the university. Cheating includes, but is not limited to, turning in homework assignments that are not the student’s own work. It is okay to seek help from others and from reference materials, but only if you learn the material. As a general rule, if you cannot delete your assignment, start over, and re-create it successfully without further help, then your homework is not considered your own work.
